

Job announcement

Global Communications Advisor

The Independent Commission for the Reform of International Corporate Taxation (ICRICT) is seeking a skilled, motivated and well organised Global Communications Advisor to join our team under the guidance of the Global Communications Manager.

Organization:

ICRICT is a unique and influential body of prominent thinkers from developed and developing nations. Our mission is to promote international tax reform, ensuring that multinational corporations and billionaires contribute their fair share to the societies in which they operate. The organisation is chaired by Professors Joseph E. Stiglitz and Jayati Ghosh.

Job Summary:

The Communications advisor will gain experience in communicating to specialist audiences through various platforms including the website, multimedia and social media. The successful candidate will work directly with the Global Communications Manager, assisting with a variety of tasks including web publishing, media relations, event coverage, multimedia, social media and other communications activities.

As a key team player, you will participate in the development and implementation of data-driven social media strategies, leveraging metrics to optimize high-impact campaigns and crafting compelling content for various social media platforms. Furthermore, you will provide operational support, edit dynamic videos, prepare comprehensive reports, and leverage your expertise in digital literacy and social media to inform and shape ICRICT's communications strategies.

If you have a passion for advocacy and social justice, complete this form, and send your CV to dave@icrict.com by 1200 CET on 11th April 2025.

Key responsibilities include:

As a key member of our team, you will:

- Propose, create, and curate engaging content for social media platforms.
- Plan and schedule posts on a day-to-day basis.
- Provide operative support to the Global Communications Manager.
- Contribute to the development and implementation of data-driven social media strategies to engage audiences and promote ICRICT's mission.
- Analyze metrics and provide insights to optimize impact-driven campaigns on social media and legacy media.
- Leverage your expertise in digital literacy and social media to inform ICRICT's communications strategies.

- Devise and deliver content ideas and campaigns from scratch that align with ICRICT's objectives.
- Support partners' communications strategies and report on the success of ICRICT/ partner campaign performance across all platforms.

Additional Responsibilities:

- Perform other duties and responsibilities as required by the Global Communications Manager.

Role Details:

Start date:	As soon as possible.
Place of work:	Home-based (location can be flexible, subject to contracting requirements), however, you will need to ensure some overlap of working hours with the rest of the team - most importantly, between roughly 9-12am CET or 12-5pm CET most days.
Hours:	Part-time 0.5 Full Time Equivalent – 17.5 hours a week. Can be delivered flexibly to suit post-holder and ICRICT's requirements.
Salary	Starting point dependent on skills and experience relevant to the role. Salary range: £30, 466 - £34,858 FTE (or currency equivalent).
Contract type:	Currently fixed term to 31st December 2026, with opportunity to extend subject to funding.
Travel:	Restrictions allowing, this post will require travel from time-to-time, but not on a regular basis.

Key Responsibilities:

The Advisor to the Global Communications Manager will report directly to and provide comprehensive support to the Global Communications Manager, ensuring seamless communication operations and media coordination

Media and Communications Support

- Perform a range of media and communications tasks to directly support the Global Communications Manager and ensure seamless communications operations under his/her direction.
- Day-to-day management of ICRICT's social media platforms, including short, medium scheduling, conducting research, creating and delivering content, briefing graphics/ video, and replying to supporter queries.
- Edit videos for social media, prepare documents, and complete other custom tasks as needed.

Communications Coordination

- Distribute op-eds to targeted media outlets, manage calendars, and handle and sort incoming messages (external and internal to ICRICT) making sure that you reply to them quickly and following the Global Communications Manager's instructions.

- Monitor multiple channels, proactively sharing critical updates, trends, and engagement opportunities.

Information Management

- Relay pertinent information from the website and social media platforms to the Global Communications Manager, ensuring they are kept up to date.
- Provide remote support to the Global Communications Manager during international missions.

General Support

- Carry out other related functions as directed by the Global Communications Manager. While the advisor will primarily report to the Global Communications Manager, they may occasionally collaborate with other members of the Secretariat team under the Manager's guidance.

Experience, Skills, and Qualifications:

Essential:

- 2+ years of experience working in digital communications, social media management, or a related field.
- A creative mindset and approach to content creation and campaign development.
- Strong understanding of social media platforms and best practices.
- A clear understanding of ICRICT's mission, values, and current social media output.
- Good written communication skills, with exceptional attention to detail.
- Basic video creation and editing skills.
- Basic image creation and editing skills.
- Ability to work part-time, remotely, and on occasion attend in-person meetings with the Global Communications Manager or as directed by him/her.
- Strong communication skills and the ability to work closely with high-profile individuals
- Ability to manage multiple projects and deadlines in a fast-paced environment.
- Fluent in English (Spanish, Portuguese and French are also relevant).
- Eagerness to learn about new innovations and software.
- Good time management skills to meet deadlines.
- Ability to work well and quickly under pressure both individually and as part of a team.
- Ability to work part-time, remotely, and on occasion attend in-person meetings with the Global Communications Manager.

Qualifications:

- University student or graduate with an interest in global affairs, political science, communication, media, or a related field.

About ICRICT

ICRICT is a unique body of prominent and influential thinkers that promotes international corporate tax reform and a more inclusive discussion of corporate tax rules. Its perspective is that of the global public interest, rather than national or corporate interest, and it promotes tax reforms which support sustainable development, the reduction of poverty and inequality, good-quality public services and fulfilment of states' human rights obligations.

ICRICT has become an influential global voice in the corporate and wealth tax debate, often challenging official orthodoxy and calling for the deeper reforms. Its audience includes international institutions, national governments, business, trade union, civil society organisations and the wider public.

The Commission is chaired by Jayati Ghosh and Joseph Stiglitz and current members are Eva Joly, Edmund Fitzgerald, Léonce Ndikumana, Ricardo Martner, Thomas Piketty, Irene Ovonji-Odida, Kim Jacinto Henares, Gabriel Zucman, Magdalena Sepúlveda, Martin Guzman, Wayne Swan and José Antonio Ocampo.

The Commission makes statements and undertakes advocacy: its strategy is governed by a broad steering Group of interested global organisations and individuals committed to a fairer, more inclusive global tax system.

ICRICT's work is supported by a (currently) 5 member Secretariat team, led by a Head of Secretariat. The Secretariat is based in Argentina, Spain and the UK.

ICRICT is committed to fostering an inclusive and equitable work environment. We welcome applicants who share our values of teamwork, mutual respect, and social justice. We are an equal opportunities employer, dedicated to promoting diversity, gender equality, and human rights.

www.icrict.com

Contact: dave@icrict.com